

Criteria for Determining Conflicts of Interest (COI)

If, within the three years preceding the abstract submission date, any of the following relationships existed with a company, corporate organization, or other for-profit organization (hereinafter referred to as the “company”) that is related to, or seeks to use the results of, any drugs, measuring instruments, equipment, questionnaires, software, or systems used in the research being presented, please consider that a conflict of interest (COI) exists.

A. Positions as an executive, advisor, or similar role: Annual compensation of JPY 1,000,000 or more from the company for serving as an executive, advisor, or in a similar position.

B. Stock ownership: Ownership of 5% or more of the company's total shares.

C. Patent royalties: Annual patent royalties of JPY 1,000,000 or more received from the company.

D. Lecture fees: Total daily allowances and lecture fees of JPY 500,000 or more received from the company.

E. Writing fees: Total writing fees of JPY 500,000 or more received from the company for preparing manuscripts for brochures or similar materials.

F. Research funding: Total annual research funding of JPY 1,000,000 or more provided by the company for contract research or joint research.

G. Donations for scholarships and research: Total annual donations of JPY 1,000,000 or more provided by the company for scholarships or research.

H. Endowed academic chairs: Affiliation with an endowed academic chair established with funding from the company.

I. Other benefits: Travel expenses, gifts, or other benefits unrelated to the research in question, provided by the company, totaling JPY 50,000 or more.

J. Listing an affiliation other than the primary affiliation

Note: If this item applies, please check the abstract submission page on the Annual Meeting website and submit a separate declaration.